Term 2 Religion and Ethics Assingment

What Are Heros and Role Models?

A role model is a person, symbol or thing that people look up to and are influenced by. There can be positive (good) and negative (bad) types of Role models. Positive role models influence people in good ways offering help and kind morals while negative role models influence people in bad ways.

Like role models, heroes impact and make a difference to people's lives and influence their morals. Heroes however effect many people

Why Do We Need Them?

1. Heroes educate us about right and wrong. Most fairy tales and children's stories do just that, showing kids the kinds of behaviors that are needed to succeed in life, to better society, and to overcome villainy.
2. We are moved by stories of magical beings with superhuman powers who can instantly remove danger and make everything right.
3. heroes/role models inspire us and help us to overcome whatever adversity we're facing. Heroes lift us up when we're personally in danger of falling down emotionally, physically, or spiritually.
4. Heros bring and show superb competencies directed toward the goal of solving society's most vexing problems.
